Esteemed Juror: Janet Brooks: Professor of Art, Arts and Digital Media - Austin Community College

Janet C. Brooks is a native Texan who has also lived and taught in the California Bay Area and in Nashville, TN. She currently teaches in the Austin Community College Department of Art. She also has worked in book design for many years.

“Art provides continuity and focus in my life. I draw, paint, sculpt, design and teach. I have taught art at the college level for 30+ years and it continues to be an exciting journey. Much of my current work in art explores the realm of nature. My paintings are both objective and symbolic. I draw from observation and I allow for invention. Close study of the natural world reveals a realm both delicate and dramatic, intricate and intense. Naturalist E.O. Wilson says it all for me: “The diversity of life has immense aesthetic and spiritual value.” – JanetBrooks.com
